The Impressions sang to our Queen; Stevie Wonder sang to her Court. They were judged by Shirley Chisholm, Congresswoman for the State of New York; Diana Sands, actress; Willis Reed, Captain of the New York Knickerbockers Basketball Team; Floyd McKissick; Matt Robinson, producer and host of T.V. series "Black Book"; John O. Killens, novelist; and Mrs. Betty Shabazz, widow of the late Malcolm X. They were viewed live by such dignitaries as Mayor Lee of Chapel Hill, N.C., Mayor Hatcher of Gary, Ind., and applauded and congratulated by such people as Mayor Stokes of Cleveland, and Whitney Young of the Urban League. Millions of people saw the historic, inspiring Black Pageant on T.V. with great admiration.
